PEARL WETSEL VICTIM OF ASSAULT

Found Lying in Vacant Lot at Columbus.

Injured Man is Well Known in This City Where He Has Often Visited.

Pearl Wetzel, of Columbus, a nephew of Mrs. J. F. Leffler, of Delaware avenue, this city, lies speechless and at the point of death, as a result of an assault made upon him in that city Wednesday afternoon. Young Wetzel has a number of relatives in this city and is widely known, having been a frequent visitor here.

An article in Friday's issue of the State Journal describes the affair. It reads:—

"Pearl Wetzel lies at his home, 540 East Livingston avenue, speechless, and threatened with concussion of the brain, as a result of an assault made upon him by an unknown person Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock in the vacant lot between a saloon and the barber shop at 116 West Main street.

Owing to the man's inability to speak, the police were not notified of the occurrence until yesterday afternoon, when Wetzel was removed from the house in the rear of the barber shop to his rooms.

GROSE GETS FREE AFTER HARD FIGHT

Wins Fifty Dollars From F. D. Fogleson.

Takes Handcuff Monarch About Nineteen Minutes to Escape From Bracelets.

"I have tackled some hard propositions in handcuffs during the past ten years," said R. J. Grose, the handcuff monarch, last evening after the performance at the Marion Family theater, "but none were any harder than the one handed me tonight by your fellow townsman F. D. Fogleson. I did not give the mechanical expert credit that he is deserving of and I will say for him that the pair of cuffs he slapped on my wrists this evening was very cleverly doctored. They were so well put together that no man in this city not even Mr. Fogleson could unlock them. Had I known that Mr. Fogleson had fixed the cuffs in the manner he did, I never would have put them on. I won his money but I earned it for I was the hardest feat of the week by far."

Another packed house was present last evening to see Grose faded. It took him nineteen minutes to get out of the Fogleson handcuffs, and the king was hissed by some when after nine minutes of work he told Fogleson that there was not a man in the room that could unlock the bracelets with a key. The hisses were changed to rounds of cheers and applause, when after nineteen minutes of desperate work, Grose stepped from under the sheet free of the cuffs.

Tonight at the first performance, Grose will escape from a straight jacket, and as many handcuffs as Marion people care to slap on him. He bars no one from bringing their cuffs and foot shackles and the faster they come the better he seems to like it.

Wire Burns Mother and Girl.
Berwick, Pa.—Going down cellar at her home here, Mrs. Isaac Vought touched a fallen live electric light wire, screamed and fell to the floor, unconscious.

Her daughter, Florence, rushed down to her aid, and she, too, touched the wire and fell, but quickly recovered.

Then Mr. Vought ran down cellar and managed to release and revive his wife, who still clutched the wire and was shockingly burned.

FOOT MASHED BENEATH TRAIN

Mrs. C. F. Dutton Painfully Hurt.

CRAWLING UNDER TRAIN

When Cars are Started by Switch Engine.

Foot is Badly Mangled and Bones are Crushed—Amputation May be Necessary.

Mrs. G. F. Dutton, of Fies avenue, was the victim of a very peculiar accident which occurred at the Big Four crossing on West Center street, about 10 o'clock Friday morning. A freight train had blocked the crossing, and Mrs. Dutton being in a hurry to pass, attempted to crawl under the train.

She had almost reached safety, when a switch engine bumped onto the train. The cars were jarred several feet by the force of the coupling and Mrs. Dutton's left foot was caught beneath one of the wheels and badly crushed.

The injured lady was hurriedly taken to her home and Dr. A. Rhu was summoned. The physician found that the flesh had been badly mangled and several bones were broken in the foot. The physician will make an attempt to save the foot, but it is very probable that amputation will be necessary. Mrs. Dutton is aged 50 years, married and has a small family. She will be confined to her bed for several weeks, as a result of the accident.
